1. The Union of Hodu is a secular democratic republic comprising diverse 28 states and 8 union territories with co-operative federalism at the core of its constitutional values. Hodu is a peninsula with a total coastline of 7,500 Km. A good portion of the coast is a fragile and eco-sensitive area protected under the Coastal Regulation Zone Notification.
2. Hodu's landmass is also environmentally rich with many protected areas, eco-sensitive zones, national parks, and wildlife sanctuaries. The country is also blessed with abundant rivers, marshlands, forests, and diverse flora and fauna apart from natural minerals. Hodu also has a deep history and culture in which the citizens take a lot of pride.
3. Due to its robust and ever-developing economy and industrial sector, there has been a lot of discussion and development in governmental policy, politics, and law-making including several judicial decisions in balancing the economic needs and protection of the environment. The process of assessing a project and permitting the same by the issue of statutory Clearance and permissions under various laws is a mandatory requirement. The Union Government issued a revamped Environment Impact Assessment Notification in the year 2006 requiring the scheduled projects therein to obtain prior environmental clearance before the commencement of any activity.
4. The Nabhivarsha People's Party (NPP) is the ruling single largest party at the national level for the past decade and has also formed governments in many of the individual states of Hodu. Lingua Parricus is one of the states in the Union of Hodu and people here have strong sentiments about their unique culture, regional language, and native religious practices and festivals. Howsoever, the NPP party failed to obtain electoral success in this State.

5. There have been two major political parties that have formed governments in turns in Lingua Parricus for the past many decades namely, the People's Rights and Justice Party (PRJ Party) and the fallout party namely the Alternative People's Rights and Justice Party (APRJ Party). Both the parties were originally formed on the principles of protection and promotion of the uniqueness and nativity of Lingua Parricus although the APRJ party is now in electoral alliance with the NPP Party.
6. The PRJ party was voted to power and formed the government in the state in the year 2006. Thereafter, during the year 2009, the State Government announced a huge township project to the extent of 80 Hectares named "Antiqua Park".
7. The proposed project was to have an infotainment complex to showcase the uniqueness of the history, language, art, and architecture of Lingua Parricus along with interactive galleries for the visitors. The second component of the project was the construction of an auditorium along with a "native sports" complex for the promotion of yesteryear sports of Lingua Parricus. The third component was a "native cultural complex" for the promotion of native food and lifestyle. The project also envisaged public parks, walking tracks, an artificial lake, and garden landscaping and beautification totaling the overall extent of 80 Hectares. The total built-up area of the three components of the project was cumulatively 1,00,000 sq. meters.
8. The State Government had also applied for Environmental Clearance since the total area of the proposed project was 80 Hectares. After applying for Environmental Clearance, the State Government also quickly commenced land acquisition and acquired the entire vast extent of land for the project. While the PRJ party hogged the project as a cultural identity for Lingua Parricus, the APRJ party and the state NPP party condemned the project as unnecessary, misplaced, and affecting larger public interest over the acquisitions and loss of land to the public. The opinions of the common public were also divided on the above lines.

9. Subsequently, during the state elections in the year 2011, the APRJ party was voted to power and formed the Government. The proposed "Antiqua Park" project was halted and put in cold storage. The PRJ party which was in the opposition claimed the same political vendetta accusing the ruling APRJ to be acting against the pride and culture of Lingua Parricus and holding public demonstrations to highlight the unused acquired lands of large extents.
10. During the year 2014, the State Government announced a revised project for the 80 hectares of land acquired. The proposed new project gave up the components of the original plan and redesigned the land for the construction of a new multi-specialty hospital. The total built-up area of the multi-specialty hospital was 25,000 sq. meters. The project also retained some of the open public parks and had a total revised project area of 50 Hectares from the original 80 Hectares and boundary demarcation was also complete. The State Government announced that it did not intend to utilize the remaining 30 Hectares for the time being.
11. Thereafter, during the year election year of 2016, the State Government quickly commenced the construction of the Project without obtaining Environmental Clearance claiming the same as not required and exempted under the prevalent laws and amendments and notifications. During the election campaign, the PRJ party accused the APRJ party of dropping the original plan and thereby insulting the culture and identity of the region. They also highlighted the unutilized 30 Hectares for the project as a public loss.
12. The APRJ party promised in its election manifesto to solve the issue and to utilize the remaining 30 Hectares of land in the near future as per the original plan as it was not opposed to the regional ideology. The APRJ party retained the power and formed the successive Government in the year 2016. During the year 2017, the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change brought out a notification in S.O.No 804 (E) dated 14.03.2017 allowing a one-time opportunity for all violators to regularize the project which has been commenced or completed without environmental clearance, in the procedure prescribed therein.

13. Thereafter the State Government of Lingua Parricus, using the window of the notification, submitted a revised proposal within time by expanding the hospital project to the original 80 Hectares incorporating the components as originally envisaged in the "Antiqua Park" project. The State Government also submitted a letter of apology for the commencement of construction without environmental clearance along with the revised proposed expansion to 80 Hectares and a total built-up area of 1,25,000 sq meters including 1,00,000 sq. meters of the original "Antiqua Park" project and 25,000 sq. meters of hospital building.
14. The Application was kept pending and the ongoing works in the hospital complex and works in the entire 80 Hectares were also halted midway, awaiting the outcome of the application for Environmental Clearance. Thereafter, during the elections in the year 2020, there was a change in Government and the PRJ party came back to power after a long gap of 10 years.
15. During the year 2021, the State Government announced that since the earlier regime had partly commenced the construction of hospitals and altered the land in many other areas, it will be not possible to go back to the original plan. The State Government, based on a technical report by its authorities, announced that only a modified plan was possible. The State Government also alleged a crunched financial situation due to the previous administration.
16. Therefore, the State Government announced a revised project called "Novus Antiqua Park" in a total area of only 49 Hectares with a Multi-specialty hospital of 25,000 sq. mt., and a new Lingua Parricus Native Medicines Education Centre in another 25,000 sq. meters and a public library at 10,000 sq. mt., while retaining some of the open public park all amounting to a total of 49 hectares and total built-up area of 60,000 sq. meters.
17. Interestingly, to compensate further for the original idea of highlighting the culture of Lingua Parricus, the Novus Antiqua Park project included a Monument for the first Chief Minister of the unified parties of EVR and AEVR State about 360 meters on the sea from the shore calling it the "Statute of Diversity" and linked it to the Novus Antiqua Park project by a pedestrian bridge. The proposed monument, with a total extent of 2263 sq. meters was in a CRZ-IV area with the link pedestrian bridges to the Novus Antiqua Park project being situated in CRZ-IV, CRZ-III, and partly in CRZ IA, and CRZ II areas.

18. It was hailed by the ruling party as an exceptionally important monument that will stand testimony to the ideology of the region, a symbol of pride and reassertion of regional values and thereby holding the principles of diversity and unity. The NPP party opposed the project claiming the same was misleading the public on constitutional values and as against national principles and was totally unnecessary. The APRJ party opposed the project to the extent of being constructed on the coast and inside the sea as unsustainable and detrimental to the local ecology.
19. The State Government applied for and obtained a CRZ clearance for the “Statue of Diversity”. With regards to the other components of the Novus Antiqua Park project, the State Government proceeded with the same without Environmental Clearance. The State, however, applied and obtained all other consents and permissions from the Pollution Control Board, planning authorities and revenue authorities, etc.,
20. The State also announced that it does not have any plans for the present for the remaining 31 Hectares and blamed the earlier government for the confusion and debacle. The State Government also withdrew all applications pending with the MoEF & CC for both the original project as submitted in 2009 and the expansion as submitted in 2017 as well as the apology letter submitted in 2017. Shortly thereafter, the Hon’ble Chief Minister in a grand ceremony launched the project and the State Government quickly commenced the construction.
21. An Original Application was filed before the Hon’ble NGT (Southern Zone) in O.A.No. 5 of 2022 (SZ) by the NPP party challenging the Novus Antiqua Park project and the construction of the Project without obtaining Environmental Clearance as illegal and causing damage to the environment. Further, the APRJ party also filed an appeal in Appeal No 5 of 2022 challenging the CRZ Clearance granted to the Statue of Diversity by contending that part of the project of link bridges fall in prohibited CRZ-IA areas and the grant of clearance was illegal.

22. There was no interim order granted in the above cases. During the year 2023, the State Government completed and put to public use the project of Novus Antiqua Park along with the Statue of Diversity.

23. Thereafter, the Hon'ble NGT heard both cases together as a batch and framed the following issues:-

I. Whether the construction of the Novus Antiqua Park project is in violation of the EIA Notification for non-obtainment of Environmental Clearance

(OR)

Whether the total area of the project does not attract the EIA Notification and the individual components of the Hospital and Education Building are exempt from obtaining Environmental Clearance?

II. Whether the utilization of 49 Hectares of the total acquired 80 Hectares of land by the State for the time amounting to wilful breaking up of the project to evade the requirement of Environmental Clearance, with an intention to utilize the land at a later point in time?

(OR)

Whether the State is permitted to piecemeal develop only a portion of the land notwithstanding the original proposal and intention without obtaining Environmental Clearance?

III. Whether the grant of CRZ clearance to the Statue of Diversity was illegal as a portion of the project namely the pedestrian bridges fall in CRZ-IA and CRZ-II areas?

(OR)

Whether the construction of monuments is exempted in the CRZ-IV area and the allied construction of bridge is a necessary component to be not separately viewed and whether bridges and roads are permitted in CRZ-I and CRZ-II areas?

24. On 18.06.2023, the NGT delivered the final judgment holding all three issues in favour of the Applicant / Appellant. The NGT has held:-

- The commencement, construction, and completion of the Novus Antiqua Park project without obtaining Environmental Clearance as violative of the EIA Notification, 2006, and several individual components require Environmental Clearance and are not covered under the exemption criteria.
- The utilization of 49 Hectares of land amounts to wilful fragmenting of the project as originally envisaged to evade the requirement of Environmental Clearance
- The grant of CRZ clearance is illegal as a portion of the project lies in the CRZ-IA and CRZ-II areas.

25. The Hon'ble NGT ordered the demolition of the whole project and payment of a sum of Rupees One Hundred Crores by the State towards the restoration of the project area as Environmental Compensation. The State of Lingua Parricus has filed appeals under Section 22 of the National Green Tribunal Act, 2010 challenging the common orders of the NGT before the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has granted an interim stay of the order of the NGT and pleadings being complete, has listed the matter for final arguments today.
